Forecast for Tuesday 21 Sep 2021

Weather: A bright day with some sunny intervals but clouding over in the west by late morning. Some light rain and drizzle especially for western ranges this afternoon, drier for eastern ranges but becoming very windy with gales or even severe gales on the higher munro tops of Lochaber like Ben Nevis. Rain clearing later this evening with cloud thinning.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 60%, tops mainly clear for a time this morning but low cloud soon forming, reducing the chance to 40%. Best chance of clear tops is for hills in the east or around the Trossachs in the morning.

Visibility: Broken low cloud will form above 500m later this morning in the west, reducing visibility. Light rain and drizzle may also cause some temporary reductions in visibility.

Widespread gales from late morning for all ranges, some severe gale gusts on higher munro tops. Feeling chilly in strong winds.

Forecast for Wednesday 22 Sep 2021

Weather: Mainly dry but cloudy in the early hours but rain spreading south and it will be cloudy damp start to the day as a band of rain moves south over Scotland giving a period of wet weather on the hills. Rain will clear by early afternoon for Lochaber, slightly later further south. Some brighter conditions through the evening.

Maximum wind: Southwesterly 30-35mph with gusts 45mph in the morning, easing by lunchtime to 20-25mph with gusts 40mph.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 20% initially, extensive low cloud in the west but improving to 60% during the evening as rain clears. Most tops will become clear again in the evening.

Visibility: Broken or extensive low cloud layers from 400m and above, low cloud more scattered the further inland you go. Rain will also cause a reduction in visibility with very few views to be had on the hills.Visibility will improve in the late afternoon for Lochaber and then Argyll ranges as rain moves south and low cloud breaks up.

Temperature: Glens: Plus 11C rising to 14C, slightly higher in the east. Temperatures falling to 4C by late evening as skies clear.
At 800m: Around plus 8C falling to 5C later in the evening.
Freezing level: Above the summits.
